Representative example:

18.2% APR representative (variable) on an assumed credit limit of £1200 and a purchase rate of 18.2% per annum (variable).

APR (Annual Percentage Rate) is an illustration of the cost of borrowing over a year taking into account the interest rate and any additional fees. You can use the APR to compare the cost of similar products.

You pay interest for borrowing money on a credit card. We work out interest daily and add it to your account on the next statement date. You can see how much interest you've been charged by checking your monthly statements or online banking.

When a rate is advertised as variable, it means that it could go up or down.

When we advertise our products, we use representative rates to show what the majority of customers may be offered.

Interest charging information	If you don't pay your balance in full, we will charge you interest from the date we add the transaction or charge to your account, taking into account any payments and/or refunds that have been received. So the longer it takes you to pay back the balance, the more interest you'll pay - until you've paid off your balance in full. The period over which the interest is charged will be as follows:
	From		Until
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • purchases • cash transactions • balance transfers* 	Date the transaction is applied to your account Date the transaction is applied to your account Date the transaction is applied to your account	Repaid in full Repaid in full Repaid in full
	No interest will be charged on default charges. Your estimated interest is the amount you will be charged on your next statement, assuming that you make a minimum payment by the due date, make no more transactions before the next statement and don't change your statement date.
Allocation of payments	If you pay less than the total amount owing, we will use that payment to reduce your higher interest-rate balances first (such as cash withdrawals), before your lower interest-rate balances (such as purchases). If some amounts are charged at the same interest rate, we'll apply your payment to the oldest amounts first. However, if you have more than one promotional offer at the same rate, we'll apply your payment to balances on promotional offers that started first, even if you have transferred older transactions on a promotional offer that started later.
Minimum repayment	Your monthly minimum payment will be one of the following, whichever is the highest amount: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 2% of the total balance on your statement (including interest and charges) • £5; or • the sum of (i) interest for the period from your last statement, (ii) any charges and (iii) 1% of the total balance on your statement (excluding interest and charges). If you only make the minimum payment each month it will take longer and cost more to clear your balance.
Credit limit	Minimum credit limit of £500, maximum credit limit subject to status.
Fees	No annual fee.
Charges	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • cash fee (including travellers cheques, foreign currency and gambling) • copy statement 	3% of value, minimum of £3 £2.50 (capped at £10)
